

The Department of Public Works is Calling all Phonebooks for Recycling

Public Works Director George L. Winfield today issued a reminder to citizens to recycle your old telephone books.

As Baltimore City businesses and individuals begin to receive their 2007 telephone directories, citizens should remember to put out their old directories for pick up on their designated paper recycling day. Telephone books may be tied up in a bundle or placed in a paper bag or cardboard box along with other paper recyclables such as newspapers, envelopes, magazines and white or colored paper.

These items are diverted from our landfills and recycled for use as boxes, packaging and other paper products.

For more information on recycling check your 2007 DPW Calendar or call 311.
